Length of Program	30 mins
Age of Target Child Audience	13 years to 16 years
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	This is a teen-hosted program that profiles individuals and organizations committed to environmental issues, reports on the latest recycling and nature conservation efforts and advances in renewable energies and carbon footprint-reducing technology, and offers advice on how to be more eco-wise while performing daily activities. The show also includes 'eco bytes' (bits of trivia related to environmental issues) and video footage uploaded by teen viewers to the show's website. This kid-friendly series uses peer reporting to address various environmental issues from a youthful point of view. By doing so, it enthusiastically encourages young adults to become more proactive about environmentalism rather than just talking about the importance of living green. It also stresses the positive impact that young people's efforts, no matter how small they might seem, can have on the larger world around them.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	WCHS continues to support the community airing numerous Public Service announcements designed to inform viewers of health and safety issues, drug prevention, and the importance of education and the environment. A gas pipeline ruptured and exploded in a community, blowing up several homes and shooting a giant wall of flames across the interstate for well over an hour. We provided extensive live coverage for seven hours that day, letting views know what was going on and offering live updates as information was coming out. Following a shooting incident that killed two troopers in the lone of duty. Our stations stepped up to help protect our protectors. WCHS TV organized a campaign we called "In-Vest", an effort to raise money to help local law enforcement agencies purchase bullet proof vests and put them into the hands of officers who need them. Often, smaller departments either cannot afford them, or the vests are old, used and broken down. We raised over 15 thousand dollars for this cause. Our Fugitive Files segment continues to be a great story of how a news organization can be a strong advocate for the community. We work with the Kanawha County Sheriff's Department to set up a hotline to give people the power to help make their neighborhoods safer. Every Tuesday, we profile fugitives that deputies tell us they want off the streets and open up the tip line for viewers to respond. The segment in its 5th year has assisted local law enforcement apprehend 477 fugitives and counting. Our Behind the Kitchen Door segment informs viewers about the health and safety of local restaurants by highlighting eateries that received particularly poor or positive reports from the local health department Our stations teamed up with the local Union Mission for another year of our Tower of Toys effort... the toy drive gathered thousands of gifts that were delivered to less fortunate children.
