Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Career Day is a television program that introduces our youth to career exploration and awareness. Students often do not know what they want to do and are unsure of potential interests they may have that could be a career. Career Day provides an avenue to view experts in their respective fields as they discuss their work, the education/training needed to prepare for the job, and the experiences that led them to choose their career. To encourage students to make informed decisions, they must be introduced to career awareness, such as the concept that success in most careers requires education and training. Middle school is an ideal age at which to expose students to the challenging world of work. The program's motivational and inspirational message of each guest empowers audiences of all ages to investigate career opportunities, which has been proven to enhance academic performance, facilitate high school completion and encourage postsecondary education. Each segment of Career Day delivers an educational and informational message that supports current social, intellectual and emotional aspects of children ages 13 and up. Attributes and advice emphasized by guests instill a grounded balance of priorities, dedication, and perseverance children can apply to their lives.

Age of Target Child Audience	13 years to 16 years

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The Real Winning Edge highlights adolescents and young adults making the right choices when faced with tough decisions and significant challenges. Recognizing that 13 to 16-year-olds are likely to be influenced by celebrities, the series features role models from the professional sports and entertainment industries. Each episode is engaging, entertaining and educational in structure, presenting a powerful and positive message. The Winning Edge Series seeks to expose youth to other youth who have consistently made the behavior choices that have helped them have a greater sense of internal significance and acceptance, which results in a more self-directed personality. They are more able to negotiate the challenges inherent in life. The youth profiled in the series are chosen for their adoptions of pro-social values and principles that have become the ethos of their behavior. Thus the characteristics demonstrated by the stories of these youth give rise to adherence to these sound choices that have given them the real winning edge to life. The program promotes the values through these very engaging positive youth role models who are introduced by celebrities in the same talent field as the youth. The celebrities reinforce the values by calling attention to these youths' qualities as they are exhibited in the program.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Chat Room is designed to inform, educate, and entertain through re-enacting teen-oriented dilemmas and discussing them in an open honest format. More than any other group, teens are on the frontlines of dealing with complex subjects as they stand at the crossroads between childhood and adulthood. Chat Room is a program about issues and concerns that teens face. The program focuses on some of the ethical choices today's teens must face with regard to social issues. Questions are framed by real life stories from the teen cast. Two young women and two young men talk about their own experiences with topics in the program. The structure of the show includes a variety of short segments which makes for a fast paced talk/interview show. It is the type of show that middle school students could also learn from. The objective is for teens to develop strategies for appropriate behavior; to learn how to handle difficult decisions whether its adults and teens or teen to teen, and it highlights social interaction, modeling good behaviors. The goal of the program is to present issues that are real and raw and discuss the pros and cons of each situation in a free flowing environment.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	While most animal shows look at the behavior of animals, Animal Science goes one step further to look at how and why an animal is able to excel in its environment. It provides interesting factoids about a variety of animals. It targets the 13 to 16 year old age group, but is also a highly entertaining program for a more general audience, in particular younger children, 8-12. The show uses animation, graphics, and scientific analysis from animal experts to give viewers more understanding than ever before of these amazing creatures. The show and each segment are introduced with a question designed to peak curiosity, similar to the anticipatory set in a lesson. It allows for discussion and the making of predictions, making it ideal for the classroom. Each segment is united by a theme: fastest, largest, etc. In a tight, well edited format, the answers the question posed for each segment are revealed, along with interesting facts provided by an expert. The enthusiastic host's modern vocal style will be engaging to the target audience, and the program will attract all age demographics.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Elizabeth Stanton's Great Big World provides dynamic core programming in the areas of particular concern to teens; including global, social, educational, and wellness issues. Elizabeth Stanton and her celebrity friends travel around the world volunteering in areas of specific need - ranging from feeding the hungry in the slums of Kenya to bringing hearing aids to Vietnamese neighborhoods whose citizens have experienced high rates of profound deafness and hearing loss. Great Big World offers a dynamic television experience for teens combining the exciting, fun, and diverse experiences of world exploration with the life changing volunteer opportunities available in these same areas. Friendship is a central theme to all episodes; each episode educates and informs the audience with lessons in geography, the initial and ongoing development of culture, volunteer opportunities, social dynamics, action and adventure, arts and entertainment, national customs, local transportation and trivia. Social responsibility and selfless behavior is presented in a positive and encouraging manner in each episode.

The station's newscasts featured several educational stories where students were interview on air. Several teachers in Montgomery and surrounding counties were presented the Golden Apple Award. Those nominating the teachers, other teachers, and students in the classes were interviewed on camera. The students were given the opportunity to explain why they nominated the teacher and described the teachers' commitment, and love for their jobs and for the students. They told how the teachers inspired them, how they make learning fun, and how they instill confidence in the students. They were taught how to express themselves, and to always do their best. They were encouraged to shoot for the stars, and were told to always work hard. Some of the students said their teachers constantly tell them that they can become whatever they want to become; that they can do whatever they make up their minds to do. A Golden Apple Teacher of The Year was chosen from this school year's winners, and received a gift of appreciation from Alabama News Network. The viewers in the area voted on and chose the winner. Other stories that were reported on included a new lab at a school in Prattville; eight Brewbaker Tech students that participated in a National Robotics Competition were highlighted; as well as three LAMP students who scored perfect 36s on the ACT College Entrance Exam. The station continues to air two non-core E/I programs on Saturday mornings from 6-7 A.M. No local commercials are placed in any of the syndicated children's programs. Local time is filled with public service announcements targeting the youth, their parents, and care-givers. Starting in May and ending on July 25, 2014 a Future Weather Forecaster from the age of 7 to 12 was given the opportunity to appear with Weather Anchor Ashley McDonald on the Early Morning News program each Friday and give the weather report. Days/Times Program Regularly Scheduled	SUNDAY, 7-7:30 A.M.
Total times aired at regularly scheduled time	13

Length of Program	30 mins
Age of Target Child Audience from	13 years to 16 years
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Career Day is a television program that introduces our youth to career exploration and awareness. Students often do not know what they want to do and are unsure of potential interests they may have that could be a career. Career Day provides an avenue to view experts in their respective fields as they discuss their work, the education/training needed to prepare for the job, and the experiences that led them to choose their career. To encourage students to make informed decisions, they must be introduced to career awareness, such as the concept that success in most careers requires education and training. Middle school is an ideal age at which to expose students to the challenging world of work. The program's motivational and inspirational message of each guest empowers audiences of all ages to investigate career opportunities, which has been proven to enhance academic performance, facilitate high school completion and encourage postsecondary education. Each segment of Career Day delivers an educational and informational message that supports current social, intellectual and emotional aspects of children ages 13 and up. Attributes and advice emphasized by guests instill a grounded balance of priorities, dedication, and perseverance children can apply to their lives. (STATION BROADCASTS IN DIGITAL ONLY)
