Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Dr. Leward Wonder, a Deaf engineer, spent many years running a successful research and development lab when he decided to leave the corporate world and set up a small inventor's lab where he can work on the kind of fun projects he enjoys, as well as creating a positive Christian work environment. He finds a location in Indiana and then gathers a team of highly creative Deaf friends who share his passion for invention, yet don't quite fit into the traditional corporate structure. Together, this sometimes goofy band of misfits create amazing inventions and, in the process, they learn more about God and each other.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	We are refiling Form 398 for WIAV-CD for 3rd quarter 2015 due to typographical errors. The original filing (filed 10/13 /15, confirmation number 175491) had several fields which were not updated correctly.
