Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	This program follows five truck friends from their morning meeting at their quarry homebase to doing work on the work site. Important lessons are shared as the trucks overcome obstacles and work together as a team on tough projects. Young children learn how to overcome obstacles, work as a team and coordinate with one another. In one episode, a truck learns a valuable lesson as she becomes overconfident in her skills and accidentally ruins a straightforward job as a result. In another episode, a truck learns to be considerate of his teammates during a grimy job at a dump site. This program airs on the stations main digital channel.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Much of the food Americans eat is produced by farmers and ranchers in the countrys heartland, but many children don't know how it's produced. America's Heartland provides information about the people and processes responsible for the availability of food and fuel across the country and around the world. The show's reporters and producers tell stories in topics that include farm families, consumer issues, animal welfare and crop sustainability. Children will learn about the production of the food and fuel they consume. Some episodes also take the show abroad to countries such as Egypt and Taiwan, to show the impact American agriculture has on the global economy. This program airs on the stations secondary channel.
