Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	During the third quarter, WWHO addressed the educational and informational needs of children through a variety of programming, outreach activities and sponsorship of local children's events and fundraisers. WWHO kicked off its fifth year of Thursday Night Lights, the broadcast of local high school football games on its air. This promotes children's involvement not only in athletics but also in academics. It also gives the highlighted schools and their respective students a sense of community. In addition, WWHO airs a series of PSA announcements designed to teach children about the world around them, including respecting the environment, the dangers of drugs and alcohol and the importance of family values. Many of these PSA's are run during the Saturday morning educational programming when children are most likely to be watching the station. Finally, the station accepts requests for station tours.
