Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The program topic is suitable for both the secondary classroom and general audience with content addressing several academic outcomes designated by both state and national life science standards. Shot from a number of photographic perspectives, the viewer is introduced to the biodiversity of the area, how animals are adapted to the environment, and the changes humans have imposed on the environment as well as the positive impact of local conservation efforts in the region. While Jack Hanna introduces the habitat and the wildlife, regional guides are given the 'expert' status and the viewer becomes engaged in the natural environment with the same enthusiasm as Jack's family. The sub-note feature added educational value to the program content and enhanced the scientific foundation. It is also important to note that in addition to the educational content of the program, Jack brings the affective aspect to wildlife education, engaging the emotional appeal of the wild animals and the conservation message to encourage the audience to take an active interest in preserving wildlife. Combining data-oriented scientific information with concern for the conservation status of wildlife and the environment enforces the educational value and impact of the program. This program meets the definition of Core Programming because: (1) it serves the educational and informational needs of children ages 16 and under; (2) it airs at 7am; (3) it is regularly scheduled on Sundays; (4) it is 30 minutes in length; (5) the educational/informational objective and target child audience for this program are specified on air and to program guide publishers.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Passport To Explore takes an atypical approach, since the focus is specifically aimed at the 13-16 year-old set. Teens - the "Young Explorers" - travel the globe in search of exciting and adventure filled places and learn a little something in the process. In accordance with the 1990 Children's Television Act (ATC) intended to increase educational and informational programming for children on television, Passport To Explore clearly meets the goals of providing children with a television show that meets CORE requirements of the FCC as follows: 1. The Passport To Explore website will be easily accessed by parents and provide a clear description of the types of programming offered. 2. Passport To Explore provides CORE programming in the area of geography and prevailing local customs related to the areas visited. Not only does the series present geographical and morays about the areas visited, but it aims to enrich children's lives by making them aware of the differences that exist and how enriching those differences can be to their own lives. Each episode provides information related to the specific area visited and gives an educational approach to its history. 3. Passport To Explore uses the technique of near peer mentors i.e., children to teach other children. Each episode employs children who ask questions and experience firsthand the experience of the topic. This program meets the definition of Core Programming because: (1) it serves the educational and informational needs of children ages 16 and under; (2) it airs at 10am; (3) it is regularly scheduled on Fridays; (4) it is 30 minutes in length; (5) the educational/informational objective and target child audience for this program are specified on air and to program guide publishers.

Origination	Syndicated
Days/Times Program Regularly Scheduled	Sundays at 7:00AM-7:30AM (10/4/15-12/27/15)
Total times aired at regularly scheduled time	13
Length of Program	30 mins
Age of Target Child Audience from	13 years to 16 years
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The program topic is suitable for both the secondary classroom and general audience with content addressing several academic outcomes designated by both state and national life science standards. Shot from a number of photographic perspectives, the viewer is introduced to the biodiversity of the area, how animals are adapted to the environment, and the changes humans have imposed on the environment as well as the positive impact of local conservation efforts in the region. While Jack Hanna introduces the habitat and the wildlife, regional guides are given the 'expert' status and the viewer becomes engaged in the natural environment with the same enthusiasm as Jack's family. The sub-note feature added educational value to the program content and enhanced the scientific foundation. It is also important to note that in addition to the educational content of the program, Jack brings the affective aspect to wildlife education, engaging the emotional appeal of the wild animals and the conservation message to encourage the audience to take an active interest in preserving wildlife. Combining data-oriented scientific information with concern for the conservation status of wildlife and the environment enforces the educational value and impact of the program. This program meets the definition of Core Programming because: (1) it serves the educational and informational needs of children ages 16 and under; (2) it airs at 7am; (3) it is regularly scheduled on Sundays; (4) it is 30 minutes in length; (5) the educational/informational objective and target child audience for this program are specified on air and to program guide publishers.
