Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	9th PERIOD is a weekly half-hour drama series for teens that teaches positive consequences of thought and action when combined with friendships effective influences. This series is comprised of three friends who meet every day after school to discuss the days events. Their exchanges are witty and on par with the subject matter of the social interaction that todays children experience. These three friends are more than friends, they are amateur sleuths. Each show presents a mystery that the children solve by the end of that show. Problem solving, working together toward a common goal, ethics, and morals are conveyed through the thoughts, words, and actions of these three characters: Peyton, Connor, and Meg. Every child will see him/herself in these characters. Peyton, Connor, and Meg share their daily trials and triumphs as they face the following together: bullies-both cyberspace and in your face- thievery, learning difficulties, family conflicts, adversity in and out of the classroom, homelessness, hidden agendas in places as small as the schoolyard to their favorite restaurant, and as large as the town itself. Children will see their worlds mirrored on the small screen. They will also observe alternative ways to handle stress, learning difficulties, and the variety of endless manners that the group mentality, when positively united, can spread good in the world.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The "In the Zone" show is hosted by NBA legend, Magic Johnson. Boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 16 years old, who are interested in playing basketball will be drawn to each episode in order to learn new skills and strategies to perfect their own game of basketball. It is good for those who are just starting out and want to be, or by necessity, need to be self-taught, or for those who already play and want to learn more. This show is full of important lessons and role modeling for adolescents. A number of topics are discussed such as the need for discipline, hard work, sacrifice, respect for others, believing in yourself and showing positive sportsmanship. Children can learn that exercise gained from participating in sports activities is good for their overall health. There is a good mix of both boys and girls playing basketball. Although there are many professional adult guests, the young players do much of the training.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Career Day is a television program that introduces young adults to career exploration and awareness. Students often do not know what they want to do and are unsure of potential interests they may have that could be a career. Career Day provides an avenue to view experts in their respective fields as they discuss their work, the education/training to prepare for the job, and experiences that led them to choose their career. To encourage students to make informed decisions, young adults must be introduced to career awareness, such as the concept that success in most careers requires education and training (Fouad, 1995). As the National Alliance of Business recommended in its 1999 publication Preparing Young People for tomorrow. Middle school is an ideal age at which to expose students to the challenging world of work (p. 5). The programs motivational and inspirational message of each guest empowers audiences of all ages to investigate career opportunities, which has been proven to enhance academic performance, facilitate high school completion and encourage postsecondary education (Broadening Career Horizons for Students in At-Risk Environments, O'Brien et al (1999). Each segment of Career Day delivers an educational and informational message that supports current social, intellectual and emotional aspects of children ages 13 and up. Attributes and advice emphasized by guests instill a grounded balance of priorities, dedication, and perseverance children can apply to their lives.
