Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Danger Rangers is an animated series focusing on rules for safety in various situations and providing children with clear cut safety information. The program features animal superheroes that work as a safety squad to protect children. They reinforce concepts of teamwork and preparedness, and model for children the acquisition of important health and safety information. The episodes are structured to present potential safety concerns, such as the need to take proper safety precautions when swimming, and use a song to introduce the relevant steps that should be taken. This program is specifically designed to further the educational and informational needs of children, has educating and informing children as a significant purpose, and otherwise meets the definition of Core Programming as specified in the Commission's rules. On Sunday, 6/3, "Danger Rangers" was preempted 7:00-7:30AM due to our scheduling of our "Children's Miracle Network Celebration 2012", a 21-hour live telethon to raise monies for a local children's hospital. "Danger Rangers" was rescheduled that weekend and aired on Saturday, 6/2, 11:00-11:30AM, that program's 2nd home time period.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Horseland is an animated series about five girls and two boys who live in spectacular countryside that houses a farm called Horseland. Each of these main characters has a special horse whose personality is similar to its owner's. Horseland and its unique approach of integrating the personality of the main characters and animals serve to reinforce prosocial themes. Horseland is also a "coming of age" series in which viewers experience and learn from the social interactions, hopes, dreams, and even fears of this group of culturally diverse adolescents. From this background, the experiences of sharing, caring, compromise, friendship, respect, and competition emerge to provide the young viewers with social and emotional guidelines for better understanding many of the life-lessons they need to learn as they grow and develop. This program is specifically designed to further the educational and informational needs of children, has educating and informing children as a significant purpose, and otherwise meets the definition of Core Programming as specified in the Commission's rules. On Sunday, 6/3, "Horseland" was preempted 7:30-8:00AM due to our scheduling of our "Children's Miracle Network Celebration 2012", a 21-hour live telethon to raise monies for a local children's hospital. Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Araya and Christina are the "Mystery Hunters", two regular kids with inquisitive minds, who travel the world in search of answers to questions that have baffled mankind forever. They gather facts and meet with experts to find out if tales such as the following are true: Does the Grand Canyon have ghosts? Did the lost city of Atlantis really exist? Is the legend of Frankenstein true? They use critical thinking and scientific rationale to debunk common myths and to find explanations for legends, spooky stories and other unexplained phenomena. This program has won several prizes including the Parent's Choice Award (2006) for quality children's media. The weekly content is generally recognized as furthering the educational and informational needs of children aged 13 to 16 years.
