| Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming. | What is Dr. Wonder's Workshop? It is the first weekly 30-minute Christian television series ever created in American Sign Language especially for Deaf children. The program is a joint effort of Silent Blessings in Indianapolis, IN, Deaf Video Communications (DVC) near Chicago, IL, and Deaf Missions. The goal of Dr. Wonder's Workshop is to teach positive values and life skills to children, both deaf and hearing, and to show them how the Bible is relevant for their lives. Each episode has a theme, such as being fair, respecting others, trusting God, obedience, honesty and learning to share. The program is set in the small inventor's lab of Dr. Leward Wonder, a Christian Deaf engineer. The lab is just down the street from The Finger Food Cafe. Dr. Wonder and his team of highly creative deaf friends, including Pops (the animatronic puppet), create amazing inventions and, in the process, learn more about God and each other. |

| Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming. | The Fred and Susie project is quality children's television that not only entertains, but also promotes creativity, imagination, and a solid set of values to help children deal with the world in which they live. Our motto, Creative family fun, Great family values, is the key to everything we do. Fred and Susie is family entertainment. The songs and puppets are great for most kids 2 to 9. The craft projects can be completed by children 3rd through 6th grade on their own and by younger ones with a grown-up's help. The PDF activities are geared to a wide range of ages, with something for everyone. The themes from each show are good lessons for anyone to learn, young and old alike. And, we've found that the show rates well with every dog that has seen it. (It's true!) Also, The Fred and Susie Show, with its craft projects and PDF activities, is a great rainy day activity, providing hours of enjoyment, which translates into a great value. |
