Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	This program is hosted by teens and used peer reporting to profile individuals and organizations committed to environmental issues, including reports on the latest recycling and nature conservation efforts, advances in renewable energies and carbon footprint-reducing technology. It also offers advice on how to be more eco-wise, while performing daily activities. The program also includes "eco bytes" (bits of trivia related to environmental issues) and video footage uploaded by teen viewers to the program's website. By using this information from a youthful point of view, it enthusiastically encourages young adults to become more proactive about environmentalism and stresses the positive impact that young people's efforts, no matter how small they may seem, can have on the larger world around them. This program airs on the station's main digital stream.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F. R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	KMPH-CD continued to the serve the educational, informational, and social needs of children throughout the 3rd Quarter 2014 through extensive broadcast and outreach activities. The station has continued to air PSAs for local and national organizations serving the interests of children and families, including those from Earth Share teaching environmental responsibility, and from the Ad Council on the dangers of childhood asthma. We also have presented stories in our newscasts highlighting children's issues, such as the dangers of potentially unsafe TV's that can fall on children, improving child safety following a 2-year-old's death after being left in a hot vehicle, and an increased understanding of the dangers in the spread of Enterovirus to the area's children. The station continues to provide tours of our facility to local schools and organizations to show where and how the news is produced, and to answer questions on what skills are needed to work in the industry, including education. The station's on-air talent maintains an extensive schedule with community groups and schools. Dozens of visits were made to schools to read to students, helping them develop a love of reading and continuing education, teaching them about weather and the environment, sports and health, and to answer questions about television, world events, and issues that impact children. Video of the students and teachers of the schools visited are featured during our 5 hour morning news and entertainment program, Great Day. These videos are included in Kopi's Ten Day Forecast, Great Day Faces, and the 7th Inning Stretch segments. These videos and their accompanying stories are also featured on our website. Our news personalities are all active in the community, including one of who serves on the board of the Northern California Chapter of the National Association of Television Arts and Sciences, serving in the Mentoring and Scholarship programs. Our station is active on social media, where we frequently field questions from children, and take the opportunity to encourage them to continue their education, act in a socially responsible manner, and become good stewards of the planet on which they live.
