Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	The half-hour weekly series, Sea Rescue, features the rescue, rehabilitation and - in many instances - release back into the wild of ocean wildlife. Produced for ages 13-16, Sea Rescue offers educational and entertaining television by demonstrating the welfare and medical benefits that rescue and rehabilitation programs provide animals. Viewers will also learn that there's a reciprocal benefit: rescued animals provide valuable insight into their biology and ecology. This information adds to the pool of knowledge necessary to conserve threatened and endangered species. Each week, Sea Rescue will leave its audience inspired by the real-life stories of the featured animals and rescuers and with a fuller understanding of the rich array of sea life with which we share our planet.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Young, enthusiastic and passionate about food, Claire Thomas is the 22 year old host who opens viewers' eyes to how everyday life can inspire culinary creations in Food for Thought. Each weekly-half hour, produced for ages 13-16, informs and educates teens about the power of food as a tool for exploring new places, meeting new people and learning about different cultures. Claire serves as a role model for 13-16 year old viewers by showing her passion for her family, life, and healthy living by sharing stories in the kitchen. Creative inspiration can come from any place at any time - sometimes from family, sometimes from friends, or even from bloggers needing her help. No matter how exotic or local the location, she's always in search of new tastes and places to explore. Based on her unique perspective gathered throughout each episode, Claire will teach the audience how to prepare the "inspired" dish while promoting a healthy attitude towards food and life.

Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Come spend a 'day in the life' with the monsters at Wimzie's house and you'll never want to go home. It's the magical kind of daycare that leads to delightful adventures for the pre-school child. All of the characters are wild and wooly on the outside - but definitely human on the inside.After spending a half hour in this very special home away from home, no one will leave the world of Wimzie unchanged. It is the world where the real and the imaginary come together, where self esteem is the order of the day, where the emotions and the relationships of today's preschoolers, who are growing up to be ten in the year 2000, are on the top of the list of story material. Five year old Wimzie and her mother Graziella, an airline pilot, live in Yaya's house as does Rouso, Yaya's best friend - even if Yaya is at least one hundred years and fifty years old (and counting) and Russo is much more than a hundred years her younger. Graziella is more than ecstatic to have found a warm and comfortable home as well as a loving environment for her daughter, Wimzie, while she is off on her somewhat unorthodox work schedule flying around the world. It is within this setting that we meet Jonas, Archibald, Loulou, Horace, and Azuline as they work out the relationships that grow out of being together every day, of growing up just a little bit every day. They learn not only about themselves but also about the world outside the door: music, nature, art and fun are woven with a touch of humour throughout a storyline solidly crafted on socio-affective objectives. Music, songs, the art of discovery. Rhymes, magic, the sharing of secrets with friends. Storytime, word games, the acceptance of "your" way. This is what Wimzie brings into the viewers' home. A daycare full of little monsters - what could be more real? Conflict, difficulty, resolution, triumph. Laughter, tears, anger and joy. Wimzie is a world of enchantment.

See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	On Saturday January 20, ABC News aired a special breaking news report from 10:51am-11:01am on the Inauguration of the President. This breaking news interrupted approximately 9 minutes of "Into the Outdoors" and 1 minute of "Jack Hanna: Into the Wild." On Saturday and Sunday March 23 and 24, due to a This-TV network technical issue, the E/I logo failed to display during all E/I programming on the station's This-TV multicast channel. Each This-TV E/I program that was affected on March 23 and 24 was re-aired with the E/I logo on March 29 and 30 in a "second home" time slot and such re-airings were promoted and publicized in advance. For simplicity, we are not reporting this situation as a "preemption"/rescheduling situation in Item 10. 27 Kids Who Matter is an interactive campaign facilitated by WKOW that aims to help raise awareness and funds for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dane County. Through a multi-faceted approach, including the WKOW website, news stories, promotions, and social media, "27 Kids Who Matter" will highlight 27 Bigs, Littles, and their collective experiences as a means to increase the visibility and excitement surrounding mentoring in Madison. We're freezin' for a reason! WKOW along with Special Olympics Wisconsin invited plungers to jump into the icy waters of Lake Monona all to benefit Special Olympics. This year we had over 2,500 plungers and raised over $500,000 for Special Olympics! WKOW sponsored the Heart Ball on February 9th to benefit adults and children with heart disease. WKOW sponsored the Zor Shrine Circus. WKOW anchors and reporters served as celebrity servers at the United Cerebral Palsy Celebrity Banquet on February 16 that benefits children with Cerebral Palsy. WKOW sponsored Kut for Kids. Viewers got their hair cut or shaved off to benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters. In March, WKOW produced and broadcasted the Boys and Girls WIAA State High School Hockey Championships, the WIAA Boys State High School basketball tournament and the WIAA Girls State High School Basketball tournament. WKOW participated in the MDA Muscle Walk on March 17 to benefit local families and their children living with neuromuscular diseases. WKOW and The Aldo Leopold Nature Center celebrated spring at Maple Syrup Fest -- a family-style festival at the Aldo Leopold Nature Center. This year's Maple Syrup Fest featured ten stations set throughout the Nature Center grounds that led visitors, at their own pace, through the history of maple syruping and related craft and activities. Fun for all ages. This report was originally timely filed on April 10, 2013, and it is being amended and refiled on May 15, 2013, in order to report the following: the station has discovered that, on January 19, 2013, the "E/I" logo did not appear in several core programs on the station's multicast stream carrying ThisTV programming. All core programs that aired on Saturday, January 19 were affected except for "Green Screen Adventures." The ThisTV network has been unable to confirm that the E/I logo was missing from the programs; however, the station's own investigation suggests that the E/I logo was missing from those programs on that date.

Length of Program	30 mins

Age of Target Child Audience from	3 years to 5 years
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Come spend a 'day in the life' with the monsters at Wimzie's house and you'll never want to go home. It's the magical kind of daycare that leads to delightful adventures for the pre-school child. All of the characters are wild and wooly on the outside - but definitely human on the inside.After spending a half hour in this very special home away from home, no one will leave the world of Wimzie unchanged. It is the world where the real and the imaginary come together, where self esteem is the order of the day, where the emotions and the relationships of today's preschoolers, who are growing up to be ten in the year 2000, are on the top of the list of story material. Five year old Wimzie and her mother Graziella, an airline pilot, live in Yaya's house as does Rousso, Yaya's best friend - even if Yaya is at least one hundred years and fifty years old (and counting) and Russo is much more than a hundred years her younger. Graziella is more than ecstatic to have found a warm and comfortable home as well as a loving environment for her daughter, Wimzie, while she is off on her somewhat unorthodox work schedule flying around the world. It is within this setting that we meet Jonas, Archibald, Loulou, Horace, and Azuline as they work out the relationships that grow out of being together every day, of growing up just a little bit every day. They learn not only about themselves but also about the world outside the door: music, nature, art and fun are woven with a touch of humour throughout a storyline solidly crafted on socio-affective objectives. Music, songs, the art of discovery. Rhymes, magic, the sharing of secrets with friends. Storytime, word games, the acceptance of "your" way. This is what Wimzie brings into the viewers' home. A daycare full of little monsters - what could be more real? Conflict, difficulty, resolution, triumph. Laughter, tears, anger and joy. Wimzie is a world of enchantment.
