Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	"WMBC News" and "WMBC Hometown," daily and weekly shows, cover many issues pertaining to children. The programs are designed to be child-friendly, non-violent, wholesome and informative. During the fourth quarter of 2012, for example, WMBC aired such reports as: NJ is holding its second annual "Week of Respect" program as part of the state's anti-bullying law; a NJ community is mourning after a teenager is killed in a car crash; students are camping out at their college radio stations to honor college radio day; Clark police are looking for a missing teenager; the final trial in the Newark schoolyard shootings case is set to begin; a new report shows that bullying in NJ schools is prevalent; the number of teen drunk driving in NJ is reportedly on the decline; Long Island students taking SAT exams are facing new security rules; NJ's Motor Vehicle Commission is making it easier for parents to check the safety records of school buses; a youth football team announces new procedures on testing for traumatic brain injury; cases of luring have been reported in at least 4 NJ counties; a bully summit helps communities take a stand against bullying; Kyleigh's law has been controversial, but a new study shows it may be effective; an outdoor living classroom in Essex County is up and running; schools are back in session following Hurricane Sandy; a little girl's love for animals helps an historic NJ animal hospital reopen its doors; a local high school is completing the first phase of a major solar panel project; Suffolk County health officials want to ban the sale of energy drinks to those under 19; a charter school in Sparta is changing things when it comes to students' downtime; NJ's Council on Compulsive Gambling and the state lottery are advising people not to give lottery tickets as holiday gifts to kids; there has been a decline in childhood obesity rates; Christmas is coming early for kids who receive Second Chance Toys; as students return back to school after the deadly shooting in Newtown, CT, experts give advice on talking to kids about their tragedy; NJ Health Commission was on hand for the delivery of 200 toys to a children's hospital; a Sparta, NJ couple has financed the construction of one Sussex County group home; NJ school children are helping to make more than 80 fleece blankets for Hurricane Sandy victims; roller skating is an enjoyable activity for many kids and families during the holiday break; several cities have "first night" new year's eve celebrations for younger kids and families. WMBC-TV's "Mountain Views" program, which airs on Saturdays, provides information and discussion on Sunday school programs, ministries for children and youth, Bible studies and other activities. The station aired numerous public service announcements that encourage the well being of children, and provides educational studio tours to children in the area. WMBC-TV does not permit any website promotions within the airing of Children's Programming.
