Age of Target Child Audience	13 years to 16 years
Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	Edgemont is designed to entertain its core teen audience and also to inform and educate its viewers about issues that arise in school and at home. The storylines focus on social and emotional challenges faced by all secondary school students, from forming and maintaining family, friendship and romantic relationships, to ethical choices and more. The objective of the series is to demonstrate models of behavior for teen viewers, allowing them to consider choices that they themselves may face; to witness the potential outcomes of these choices and gain positive tools that they can use to resolve issues and conflicts in a constructive way. School work is taken seriously depicted through characters studying in the library, receiving or discussing grades or doing homework at home. Each episode advances a few specific storylines based on particular social or emotional issues and takes them to a new conclusion. Characters act out behaviors that bring these issues to the forefront, and they solve problems generally without intervention by adults, but through communication with peers and direct action, which leads to a better understanding of each situation and each other. At the same time, the show highlights the fact that actions do lead to consequences, and the outcomes provide a "life lesson" that is plainly evident but conveyed to the viewer in a natural way.

Include any other comments or information you want the Commission to consider in evaluating your compliance with the Children's Television Act (or use this space for supplemental explanations). This may include information on any other noncore educational and informational programming that you aired this quarter or plan to air during the next quarter, or any existing or proposed non-broadcast efforts that will enhance the educational and informational value of such programming to children. See 47 C.F.R. Section 73.671, NOTES 2 and 3.	Commercial Limits: After due review of internal station records and documentation provided to us by program suppliers, the licensee hereby certifies that the station fully complied with the FCC's commercial limits in children's programs, as specified at twelve and under. The station does not air additional programs other than those listed in this report designed for children ages twelve and under that were not "educational or informational" programming. OF NOTE: The COOL TV which airs on our station's second stream went hot on September 12, 2011. This means that the number of episodes aired [2-4 per show] are fewer than the 13 episodes that would air had the stream been active at the beginning of the third quarter.
