Describe the educational and informational objective of the program and how it meets the definition of Core Programming.	This weekly half hour program offers young people the opportunity to follow adults on the job and learn about fields that may enchant and inspire future career paths. Patterned after the long time practice of experts in their field lecturing students in classroom settings about the job market, Career day takes it a step further as young people actually experience the work place first hand and learn what it may really take to reach their career goals.
